Should a shareholder be a foreign individual, he/she is required to present his/her passport. A foreign shareholder's - individual person's - proxy is required to submit a written power of attorney with an officially certified signature of the principal. Should a shareholder be a foreign legal entity, it is required to submit an officially certified document proving the existence of the legal entity which indicates who is authorised to act on behalf of the legal entity, and unless he/she is also its governing body, he/she is required to submit a written power of attorney with the officially certified signatures of the persons authorised to act on behalf of the legal entity, unless provided for otherwise hereinbelow. Representatives whose right to represent a shareholder is based on a fact other than a power of attorney are required to present documents attesting such right.

Documents issued by foreign authorities by virtue of which a shareholder or his/her/its representative prove their identity must be superlegalized or provided with a stamp of apostille (certification), unless an agreement on legal assistance exists between the Czech Republic and the country where the shareholder has its permanent residence or registered office. If the shareholder's notice announcing a granted or revoked power of attorney to represent a shareholder at the general meeting complies with all formal requirements, the company will not request the shareholder to present the power of attorney at the shareholder check-in point.

A shareholder may also be represented at the general meeting by an administrator registered in the statutory register of investment instruments or by a person authorized to exercise the rights attached to a share as per the registration in such statutory register – this applies to the exercise of all rights attached to the shares registered on the particular account, including voting at the general meeting. Such parties are required to prove such authorization by presenting an extract from the statutory register of investment instruments upon registration, with such extract to be obtained by the company.

2. Rights of Shareholders Associated with Attending the General Meeting and the Manner of Exercising such Rights

Shareholders may exercise their rights at the general meeting, i.e. they are authorized, in particular, to vote, to request and receive explanations about matters related to the company, if such explanation is necessary for assessing the matters on the general meeting's agenda or for exercising shareholder rights at the general meeting, and to submit proposals and counterproposals. Shareholders may exercise such rights in person, through their governing body, through their representatives, or through an administrator registered in the register of investment instruments or persons authorized to exercise the shareholders' rights as per the registration in such register.

Shareholders bear their own expenses for attending and participating in the general meeting.

The chairman of the general meeting is obligated to provide for submission at the general meeting of all proposals, counterproposals, and requests for explanation by shareholders, provided that the same relate to the meeting's agenda and the relevant shareholder insists on the submission thereof at the general meeting. Requests for an explanation may not be responded to if the law implies that an answer does not have to be provided. Explanations may be provided in the form of summarised answers to several questions of similar content. It holds that an explanation has been provided to a shareholder if a supplementary explanation on the issues on the agenda was made available on the company's website no later than on the date preceding the date of the general meeting and is available to shareholders at the venue of the general meeting. The company will explain matters regarding the pending general meeting directly at that general meeting. If impossible given the complexity of the explanation, the company will provide the explanation to the shareholder within 15 days following the date of the general meeting.

a. Number of Shares and Voting Rights

The company's registered capital amounts to CZK 53,798,975,900 (in words: fifty-three billion seven hundred and ninety-eight million nine hundred seventy-five thousand and nine hundred Czech crowns) and is divided into 537,989,759 shares (in words: five hundred thirty-seven million nine hundred eighty-nine thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine shares), each with a nominal value of CZK 100 (in words: one hundred Czech crowns). One vote is attached to each company's share with a nominal value of CZK 100. All the shares are issued as book-entered shares, are a type of bearer share, and have been admitted for trading on the European regulated market. Shareholders are not required to exercise the voting rights attached to all their shares in the same manner.

b. Attendance and Voting at the General Meeting

Attending shareholders are entered in the attendance list, which specifies the corporate name or name and registered office of the legal entity or the name and place of residence of the individual shareholder, or, as the case may be, a proxy of the same, and the number and nominal value of shares authorizing such person to vote, or, as the case may be, information that such share does not authorize its holder to vote.

Attendance at the general meeting is also registered on attendance cards. Each attendance card will contain the name, corporate name or other name of the shareholder, the shareholder's identity card number (this applies to Czech nationals) or the shareholder's passport number (this applies to foreigners), the shareholder's identification number, if it is a Czech legal entity, and the signature of the shareholder or his/her proxy. Should a shareholder be represented, such attendance card will contain information on his/her representative to the extent specified for the shareholder.

The general meeting's agenda will be discussed on an item-by-item basis.

Voting on the items of the general meeting's agenda takes place after the general meeting has been informed of all submitted proposals; first, the board of directors' proposals are voted on; second, the supervisory board's proposals are voted on; third, proposals and counterproposals submitted by shareholders are voted on in the order of submission. Once a submitted proposal is approved, no other proposals or counterproposals opposing the approved proposals will be voted on.

Voting takes place by ballots. Each ballot must contain the name, corporate name, or other name of the shareholder, the shareholder's identity card number (this applies to Czech nationals) or the shareholder's passport number (this applies to foreigners), the shareholder's identification number if it is a Czech legal entity, and his/her signature or the signature of his/her proxy. In the ballot, each shareholder makes its choice for a specific proposal number to which the voting refers by crossing through "FOR", or "AGAINST", or "ABSTAINED". Ballots and attendance cards must be signed. Unsigned attendance cards and ballots are invalid. Torn, scribbled on or otherwise defaced ballots and cards, such as ones containing illegible information, are deemed to be invalid, as well.

The general meeting decides by a simple majority of votes of attending shareholders, unless the law or the company's articles of association require a different majority.

c. Right to Raise Proposals and Counterproposals

Shareholders may present proposals and counterproposals on matters included on the general meeting's agenda. If a shareholder wishes to present a counterproposal on a matter listed on the agenda, he/she/it will deliver the counterproposal to the company no later than 10 days before the general meeting is held; the foregoing does not apply to proposals to elect or remove particular individuals to/from the company's bodies. The board of directors will, in the manner prescribed for convening the general meeting, communicate the text of the shareholder's counterproposal to the shareholders, including its standpoint in compliance with the law and the articles of association. The foregoing does not apply if the notice is delivered less than two days before the general meeting is held, or if the relative expenses would be in gross disproportion to the importance and content of the counterproposal, or if the text of the counterproposal contains more than 100 words. If the counterproposal contains more than 100 words, the board of directors will summarise the substance of the counterproposal and its own standpoints and the counterproposal will be disclosed and made available on the company's website (www.cez.cz).

d. Right to Request that a Particular Matter be Included on the General Meeting's Agenda

If so requested by a shareholder or shareholders of the company who hold shares whose total nominal value reaches at least 1% of the company's registered capital, the board of directors will include the requested matter on the agenda, provided that each such matter is supplied with a proposal for resolution or a justification. If the request is delivered after the notice of the general meeting is disclosed, the board of directors will publish a supplement to the agenda no later than five days prior to the record date for attending the general meeting in the manner which the law and the articles of association impose on convening the general meeting.
